

Song of Solomon

Passages that underwrite bloodline repentance as the prayers practice it.

Song of Solomon 8:6-7

Love as a seal; jealousy as cruel as the grave — covenant claim vs rival claim.

8:6 Set me as a seal over your heart, as a seal upon your arm. For love is as strong as death, its jealousy as unrelenting as Sheol. Its sparks are fiery flames, the fiercest blaze of all.

8:7 Mighty waters cannot quench love; rivers cannot sweep it away. If a man were to give all the wealth of his house for love, his offer would be utterly scorned.
