They are from the YouTube channel Repentance 101, The Millers. Good day and welcome to this podcast. I'm your host Ashton. Today we're going to continue with the series called Building Faith. Today we're going to look at the role of being obedient to God and listening to the voice of the Father in our everyday lives. The other day I was talking to a friend and I was trying to explain the importance of listening to God and being obedient to the word of God.

And one of the things that dropped into my head was the human philosophy of love languages. Now, I don't believe in that and it's not something that I would promote because it's not of God. It's like going to an ice cream shop and asking for strawberry flavored ice cream. But you know there's no real strawberries inside. It's just flavored ice cream and that is exactly what love languages is. It's got a little bit of Bible-ish flavor on top of it.

So I asked this person and I said, well, what would God's love language be? And they gave some answers and then I said, well, God's love language is it requires that we love him with all our hearts, all our mind, all of our strength. And that he requires us to love our neighbor as we love ourselves. But also he requires us to be obedient to him over sacrifices. So his love language would be acts of obedience and service to him. That would be the love language of God.

And I said, when you are in your daily life and you are about to face a situation that is going to release the flesh inside of you, you're going to have to ask yourself the question, well, what is the love language of God? Am I now then going to serve my own flesh and ignore what God requires of me in this situation? Or am I now going to be obedient to God, be obedient to the voice of God, be obedient to the commands of God and do what he requires of me in this situation? We always have an option.

Do we serve our flesh, our selfishness, or do we be obedient and serve God? Because that's what is the love language of the Father. So we move on to our text. Our text reads, behold, to obey is better than sacrifice and to hearken than that of the fat of rams. 1 Samuel 15 verse 22. The next one is John 14 verse 15. And it reads, if you love me, you will keep my commandments. The next text comes from Proverbs. Proverbs 21 verse 3. To do righteousness and justice is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice.

And then we're reading from 1 John verse 2 and 4. Whoever says, I know him, but does not keep his commandments is a liar, and the truth is not within him. God's word is akin to God's voice that is within our minds. When we are confronted with the situation, and we've seeded God's word inside of us, and we now hear the word of God speaking back to us, that we should do what the Bible requires of us. It is akin to hearing the voice of God. Holy Spirit will sometimes directly speak to you.

Jesus Christ will sometimes directly speak to you. And Father God himself will sometimes speak to you. But we need to get into the word of God and practice what the word says so that we can hear from God. John 10 verse 27 says, My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me. The first person to receive from God with inside of us will always be our spirit. God speaks to our spirit man. And if our spirit man, if it has a desire for God, it will receive from God and then seed what it has received from God to the soul and the body.

The order is always spirit, soul, and body. If the soul governs, then the order is upside down. And a few examples of governance that are upside down is people who govern from a selfish point of view, where they are only self-serving themselves. That is an upside down government inside of you. Or if you are angry and you are doing things out of anger, there is also an upside down government inside of you. Your soul is speaking, your soul is governing, and not your spirit man.

What God releases to you in his word will always lead you to a specific destiny, a specific direction that will bear fruit in your life, godly fruit. If you are now then governed by your flesh, how then can you birth the promises of God here upon the earth? We are all born with a purpose in life, a godly purpose. But if we serve ourselves, then the will of God can never be carried out. Within our lives. Three men who birthed the promises of God. We look at Moses.

Moses was in the desert, tending his little flock, when he saw the fire. When Moses heard the voice and responded to the call, Moses was led to birth great things for Israel. Nehemiah was under the rulership of a foreign king. But when he heard the walls of Jerusalem were down, the walls had been fallen and broken and burned, he went and he birthed what God wanted him to do, and the walls were built back up. Another one is Noah. Noah, who never saw a boat in his life, who never saw rain fall.

But because he heard the word of God and was obedient, he birthed the ark. And when the... The walk was completed. He saved his family and many animals and the earth started again when the waters had settled. Each of these men chose to be obedient to God and not their flesh. How then can you receive the anointing for the assignment if you are in an ungovernable state? And how will you see the full vision of God if your vision is only on yourself and not the plight of others? Nehemiah fasted and prayed constantly.

He prayed and he fasted and he asked God for answers. Deuteronomy chapter 28 verses 1 and 2 reads, Now it shall come to pass, if you diligently obey the voice of the Lord your God, to observe carefully all his commandments, which I commanded you today, that the Lord your God will set you high above all the nations of the earth, and all the blessings shall come upon you and overtake you, because you obey the voice of the Lord your God. It comes as a big surprise to those who start their repentance journey, and they do a repentance that allows them to move away from self and start serving for the God.

How quickly things start to progress within their lives in a manner that they had not expected. The word of God says that the blessing will come on you and overtake you, and God listed all of those blessings. Your bonds will be full. You will build more bonds. You will be blessed when you go in. You will be blessed when you leave. Whatever you set your hand to do will be successful. You will be the head and not the tail. Repentance and obedience go hand in hand for the blessings to come upon your life.

But you cannot do it without faith. You've got to believe God. Trust God. Release your own way of thinking and living and live for God, so that God can be made strong in your weakness. God bless you.
