Good day and welcome to this podcast. I'm your host Ashton Campbell. Today we're going to talk about having peace in the midst of circumstances. We're going to read from Colossians chapter 3 verses 15 and 16. And let the peace of God rule your hearts, to which he also are called in one body, and be he thankful. Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord.

True knowledge of God produces perfect peace within our lives. This knowledge is not the same knowledge as some people would have you believe, where they say, I know my God. But when circumstances arise, that peace and knowledge that's supposed to come from knowing God quickly disappears. When fear seems to dominate your life, this is a classic example of the absence of peace in operation within your life in those particular areas. What you do under pressure determines what exactly is in charge inside of you.

The pressure that you experience will reveal the truth about who you really are. Any pressure felt in the face of adversity will either produce a godly response to your situation, or a carnal response to your situation, or what you are feeling. So you will either exercise the peace that God has given you in your situation, or you will exercise the carnality that is living inside of you for that situation. Everybody is Christian until adversity strikes.

John 14 verse 27 reads, Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you, not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. A typical example of the world's peace you can find in relationships, where a couple will go tit for tat. If he says something, she will say something. If she says something, he will say something. But yet both of them are supposed to exist in perfect unity and have peace. But because of what lives inside of them, that peace, that worldly peace, is easily put aside for argument's sake.

So there is no true peace within that relationship. Jesus says, One of the biggest benefits of the peace that Jesus gives us is that with his peace, there are no effects or negative effects that come with it. In his peace, there is perfect calm and clarity for the situations that are before us. But in the world, their peace is conditional. Their peace comes with fear attached. It's based upon fear that if you do not accept this solution, then these things are definitely going to happen to you.

[illegible]

In this peace, we have freedom from all ungodly thoughts, from all familiar spirits trying to speak negativity into our lives because we're resting in the peace that Jesus has acquired for us. Whenever the familiar spirits or the negative thinking happens in your life, quickly find scriptures that speak life in that particular situation for your life. Never agree with the familiar spirits. We should always have a psalm, a hymn, and spiritual songs ready to combat any form of attack from the enemy.

Psalm 29 verse 11 reads, The Lord will give strength unto his people. The Lord will bless his people with peace. Psalm 37 verse 37 reads, Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace. While it is easy to be offended and have, as they say, your peace disturbed, psalm 119 verse 165 says, Great peace have they which love thy law, and nothing shall offend them. And then Proverbs 14 verse 30 reads, A calm and undisturbed mind and heart are the life and health of a body, but envy, jealousy, and wrath are like rottenness of the bones.

Because the Babylonian system of today makes sure there is never an opportunity missed to fill you with fear. It is always trying to keep you on edge with its tactics. But we as Christians know that whenever we are faced with adversity, that we have the perfect peace of God given to us through Christ Jesus. And if we are going to go into battle, then we have to have that mind of Christ that produces this peace and the knowledge of God, that God is faithful towards us in all our circumstances and situations.

The victory of your battles starts with the peace you have inside of you. Because in that quietness, in that quiet state, God begins to work. When you move in peace, you cannot remain in the same place that fear had held you bound. You move on to victory in Christ Jesus. Jesus said, These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world you will have tribulation, but be of good cheer. I have overcome the world. God bless you.
