

Incubus - the Jealous & Destructive - Tales from the World, from Mythology, from the Bible

9/21/2026 — Berean Standard Bible, quoted in full

This study is the counterpart to the succubus sheet. That one named the lure that calls a man off holiness. This one names the possessive man who will do anything to keep a woman from walking in the ways God has designed: prayer, church, a clean conscience, a calling, a covenant that is not a cage, and the fear of the LORD rather than the fear of him.

Christ loves the church and gives Himself up for her, to make her holy. The incubus pattern does the opposite. He takes, isolates, monitors, threatens, and calls it love. In Topics 666 this sits with jealousy (011), being controlling (027), being domineering (028), being manipulative (121), cruel oppression (240), and Spirit Spouse material that treats a person as owned. The title word incubus is later folklore for a night spirit in male form. It is not a Berean Bible word. It is used here as a handle for jealous destruction across world, myth, and Scripture.

Writing is kept PG. Myths are folk warnings, not a second Bible. Some Bible narratives name force; they are quoted as written, without added detail. Scripture text: Berean Standard Bible (public domain; formerly called the Berean Study Bible). Every passage named below is quoted in full from the BSB.

I. TALES FROM THE WORLD

In first-world and second-world countries he rarely introduces himself as a jailer. He is framed as protector, provider, traditional husband, wounded romantic, or "the only one who really loves her." The fruit is the same: her world shrinks until God's design for her cannot be walked. He is jealous of her Lord, her church, her friends, her work, her children, and even her rest.

First-world countries

United States, Western Europe, Canada, Australia, Japan, South Korea, and similar.

- Coercive control without a bruise the camera can see. He reads her messages, tracks her phone, decides who she may see, and punishes silence with rage or with a cold house. The law in several countries now names this as a crime. The spirit is older than the statute.
- Love as a hostage. If you leave me I will ruin myself, ruin you, or ruin the children. Proverbs 6 already knew a jealous man who will not be bought off.
- Headship as a costume. He quotes wives-submit and skips husbands-love, do-not-be-harsh, and fellow-heirs. Biblical headship in Ephesians 5 is Christ giving Himself. This man uses the verse as a leash.
- Isolation from the gathering. Church is "full of hypocrites." Women's Bible study is "gossip." Prayer is allowed if he can hear it. Suppressing ministries and ministers (topics 154-155) often begins in a living room.
- Image and reputation. In public he is charming. In private the air changes. Friends are shown a devoted couple. She is told no one will believe her.
- After she leaves. Stalking, false reports, dragging out courts, posting her image to shame her. "If I cannot have you, no one will, and God will not either."

- The night version. He does not have to kick a door. He can fill a house with demand, with accusation, and with a secret life that treats her body as property and her soul as a rival.

Second-world countries

Much of Eastern Europe, Russia and neighbors, large parts of Latin America, Turkey, Mexico, and similar middle-income regions.

- Honor as ownership. Her obedience is the family's face. A walk toward God that he did not authorize is treated as shame. The threat may be the in-laws, the street, or a quiet accident.
- Bride-price and papers as a bill of sale. Marriage arranged for money, visa, or clan. She is not asked whether she will fear the LORD. She is moved like livestock. Shechem wanted Dinah as a wife after he had already taken her. The sequence is the tell.
- Religion as a lock. He may be louder in ritual than she is, yet forbid her a living faith, a female teacher, or a church that would hear her cry. Jezebel taught immorality in a church. This man forbids holiness in a home.
- Work and money as a gate. She may not have an account, a passport, or a job. God's design includes stewardship. He calls her dependence faithfulness.
- The forest and the city both. In some regions abduction-marriage is still named. In cities the same spirit uses apartments, nightclubs, and "protection." Either way she is kept off the road.

What both worlds share: he is jealous, and the jealousy is destructive. He does not want her holy. He wants her his. If holiness would make her brave, he will starve it. If a church would make her seen, he will mock it. If God would be her Husband in the prophetic sense, he will compete with God.

II. TALES FROM MYTHOLOGY

These are not Scripture. They are how many nations remembered a male figure who seizes, hides, binds, or visits in the night so that a woman cannot go home, cannot keep a vow, and cannot belong to anyone but him. Read them as folk memory of the same snare. Where old religions named spirits and idols, the New Testament says the nations sacrificed to demons, not to God.

1 Corinthians 10:19-21

¹⁹ Am I suggesting, then, that food sacrificed to an idol is anything, or that an idol is anything? ²⁰ No, but the sacrifices of pagans are offered to demons, not to God. And I do not want you to be participants with demons. ²¹ You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons too; you cannot partake in the table of the Lord and the table of demons too.

The tales below stay PG. The danger is captivity: a stolen cloak, a locked tower, a night claim, not a scene to repeat. Each named term has a short hear MP3. Japanese names are spoken in Japanese. English literary names are spoken in English. Tap or click hear; in the PDF the same word is a link to the clip.

Night visitors and spirit-husbands

- Incubus hear (medieval European lore). The male counterpart of the succubus. A night spirit said to press upon a woman in sleep, leaving her exhausted and bound to a secret. PG meaning: a claim on her rest, her body, and her attention that holiness cannot share. This is the title's folk name. In many churches on several continents the same pattern is still named a spirit husband: a night visitor who forbids marriage, prayer, or a clean house.
- Asmodeus hear in the book of Tobit (not in the 66-book Protestant canon, but widely told). A destroyer who will not let a woman belong to a husband. The folk point: jealous death standing in the doorway of a covenant.

- Jinn hear marriages in parts of the Middle East and North Africa. Stories of a hidden husband who is not human, who is angry if she prays, weds, or is blessed. The warning is the same as Spirit Spouse: you do not owe a demon a wedding.

Stolen skin, stolen road

- Selkie hear and swan-maiden hear tales (Celtic, Norse, and wide Eurasian variants). A man finds a woman's seal-skin or feather-cloak and hides it. Without it she cannot return to her own kind or her own sea. He calls it marriage. The tale calls it theft. God's design for her is the cloak he will not give back.
- Bluebeard hear. A husband with a locked room and a rule that is not for her good. Curiosity is blamed. The locked room is his. She is not allowed to know the truth of the house.
- Hades hear and Persephone hear (Greek). The underworld king takes a young woman from the field. The mother searches. The year splits. Whether later poets soften it, the old shape is abduction dressed as a wedding.

Gods and hunters who will not stop

- Apollo hear and Daphne hear, and other chase-stories. A god pursues. She runs. She would rather become a tree than be caught. PG meaning: pursuit that will not hear no, even when the woman flees into another form.
- Satyrs hear and similar woodland males. Folklore of appetite without covenant. They do not keep a home. They raid one.
- Oni hear (Japanese おに), mountain bandits, and bride-stealing yōkai hear (Japanese ようかい). Processions interrupted. A woman carried off the road to a hidden place. The village tale is a map: do not let the mountain take her.

What the myths keep repeating

He is not first known as a brother in covenant. He takes. He hides the thing she needs in order to be free. He visits at night. He is jealous of every other claim, including heaven. The cost is her voice, her road, her vow, or her life. The dragon in Revelation 12 pursues the woman and then makes war on her children. Mythology painted smaller dragons. The Bible names the rage.

III. TALES FROM THE BIBLE

Fallen rule over the woman appears as soon as sin does. Then come men who take daughters, display queens, seize wives, and call force love. Then come the Lord's commands that break the pattern: love, honor, no harshness, fellow heirs. Then the dragon who hunts the woman because she bears the child and the testimony.

The fracture and the boast

Genesis 3:16

¹⁶To the woman He said: "I will sharply increase your pain in childbirth; in pain you will bring forth children. Your desire will be for your husband, and he will rule over you."

This is spoken after the fall. It is not the design of Eden. The possessive man treats the wound as a warrant.

Genesis 4:19-24

¹⁹ And Lamech married two women, one named Adah and the other Zillah. ²⁰ Adah gave birth to Jabal; he was the father of those who dwell in tents and raise livestock. ²¹ And his brother's name was Jubal; he was the father of all who play the harp and flute. ²² And Zillah gave birth to Tubal-cain, a forger of every implement of bronze and iron. And the sister of Tubal-cain was Naamah. ²³ Then Lamech said to his wives: "Adah and Zillah, hear my voice; wives of Lamech, listen to my speech. For I have slain a man for wounding me, a young man for striking me. ²⁴ If Cain is avenged sevenfold, then Lamech seventy-sevenfold."

Genesis 6:1-4

¹ Now when men began to multiply on the face of the earth and daughters were born to them, ² the sons of God saw that the daughters of men were beautiful, and they took as wives whomever they chose. ³ So the LORD said, "My Spirit will not contend with man forever, for he is mortal; his days shall be 120 years."

⁴ The Nephilim were on the earth in those days—and afterward as well—when the sons of God had relations with the daughters of men. And they bore them children who became the mighty men of old, men of renown.

Later folklore read this as the incubus's old family: taking women, not asking, making a name. The BSB text is enough: they took as wives whomever they chose.

Taking, then calling it marriage

Genesis 34:1-7

¹ Now Dinah, the daughter Leah had borne to Jacob, went out to visit the daughters of the land. ² When Shechem son of Hamor the Hivite, the prince of the region, saw her, he took her and lay with her by force.

³ And his soul was drawn to Dinah, the daughter of Jacob. He loved the young girl and spoke to her tenderly. ⁴ So Shechem told his father Hamor, "Get me this girl as a wife." ⁵ Jacob heard that Shechem had defiled his daughter Dinah, but since his sons were with his livestock in the field, he remained silent about it until they returned. ⁶ Meanwhile, Shechem's father Hamor came to speak with Jacob. ⁷ When Jacob's sons heard what had happened, they returned from the field. They were filled with grief and fury, because Shechem had committed an outrage in Israel by lying with Jacob's daughter—a thing that should not be done.

Genesis 34:25-31

²⁵ Three days later, while they were still in pain, two of Jacob's sons (Dinah's brothers Simeon and Levi) took their swords, went into the unsuspecting city, and slaughtered every male. ²⁶ They killed Hamor and his son Shechem with their swords, took Dinah out of Shechem's house, and went away. ²⁷ Jacob's other sons came upon the slaughter and looted the city, because their sister had been defiled. ²⁸ They took their flocks and herds and donkeys, and everything else in the city or in the field. ²⁹ They carried off all their possessions and women and children, and they plundered everything in their houses. ³⁰ Then Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, "You have brought trouble upon me by making me a stench to the Canaanites and Perizzites, the people of this land. We are few in number; if they unite against me and attack me, I and my household will be destroyed." ³¹ But they replied, "Should he have treated our sister like a prostitute?"

Shechem's "love" comes after force, and he keeps her in his house until her brothers take her out. Possessive desire is not the same as covenant.

2 Samuel 13:1-2, 11-17, 19-20

¹ After some time, David's son Amnon fell in love with Tamar, the beautiful sister of David's son Absalom.

² Amnon was sick with frustration over his sister Tamar, for she was a virgin, and it seemed implausible for him to do anything to her. ¹¹ And when she had brought them to him to eat, he took hold of her and said,

“Come lie with me, my sister!” ¹²“No, my brother!” she cried. “Do not violate me, for such a thing should never be done in Israel. Do not do this disgraceful thing!” ¹³Where could I ever take my shame? And you would be like one of the fools in Israel! Please speak to the king, for he will not withhold me from you.”

¹⁴But Amnon refused to listen to her, and being stronger, he violated her and lay with her. ¹⁵Then Amnon hated Tamar with such intensity that his hatred was greater than the love he previously had. “Get up!” he said to her. “Be gone!” ¹⁶“No,” she replied, “sending me away is worse than this great wrong you have already done to me!” But he refused to listen to her. ¹⁷Instead, he called to his attendant and said, “Throw this woman out and bolt the door behind her!” ¹⁹And Tamar put ashes on her head and tore her robe. And putting her hand on her head, she went away crying aloud. ²⁰Her brother Absalom said to her, “Has your brother Amnon been with you? Be quiet for now, my sister. He is your brother. Do not take this thing to heart.” So Tamar lived as a desolate woman in the house of her brother Absalom.

This is the incubus pattern without a Latin name: appetite called love, force, then hatred, then a door bolted so she cannot even have the false covering of marriage. She is left desolate. That is how a man keeps a woman from God's open design: shame, silence, and a locked door.

Kings who display, seize, and master

Esther 1:10-22

¹⁰On the seventh day, when the king's heart was merry with wine, he ordered the seven eunuchs who served him—Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar, and Carkas— ¹¹to bring Queen Vashti before him, wearing her royal crown, to display her beauty to the people and officials. For she was beautiful to behold. ¹²Queen Vashti, however, refused to come at the king's command brought by his eunuchs. And the king became furious, and his anger burned within him. ¹³Then the king consulted the wise men who knew the times, for it was customary for him to confer with the experts in law and justice. ¹⁴His closest advisors were Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan, the seven princes of Persia and Media who had personal access to the king and ranked highest in the kingdom. ¹⁵“According to law,” he asked, “what should be done with Queen Vashti, since she refused to obey the command of King Xerxes delivered by the eunuchs?” ¹⁶And in the presence of the king and his princes, Memucan replied, “Queen Vashti has wronged not only the king, but all the princes and the peoples in all the provinces of King Xerxes. ¹⁷For the conduct of the queen will become known to all women, causing them to despise their husbands and say, ‘King Xerxes ordered Queen Vashti to be brought before him, but she did not come.’ ¹⁸This very day the noble women of Persia and Media who have heard about the queen's conduct will say the same thing to all the king's officials, resulting in much contempt and wrath. ¹⁹So if it pleases the king, let him issue a royal decree, and let it be recorded in the laws of Persia and Media so that it cannot be repealed, that Vashti shall never again enter the presence of King Xerxes, and that her royal position shall be given to a woman better than she. ²⁰The edict the king issues will be heard throughout his vast kingdom—and so all women, from the least to the greatest, will honor their husbands.” ²¹The king and his princes were pleased with this counsel; so the king did as Memucan advised. ²²He sent letters to all the provinces of the kingdom, to each province in its own script and to each people in their own language, proclaiming that every man should be master of his own household.

Vashti's refusal is treated as a contagion. The cure they invent is a law: every man a master. That is first-world and second-world control in a Persian seal. It is not Ephesians 5.

2 Samuel 11:1-5, 26-27

¹In the spring, at the time when kings march out to war, David sent out Joab and his servants with the whole army of Israel. They destroyed the Ammonites and besieged Rabbah, but David remained in Jerusalem. ²One evening David got up from his bed and strolled around on the roof of the palace. And from the roof he saw a woman bathing—a very beautiful woman. ³ So David sent and inquired about the woman, and he was told, “This is Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam and the wife of Uriah the Hittite.”

⁴ Then David sent messengers to get her, and when she came to him, he slept with her. (Now she had just purified herself from her uncleanness.) Then she returned home. ⁵ And the woman conceived and sent word to David, saying, “I am pregnant.” ²⁶ When Uriah’s wife heard that her husband was dead, she mourned for him. ²⁷ And when the time of mourning was over, David had her brought to his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done was evil in the sight of the LORD.

A king can send messengers to get a wife who is not his, then take her house after he has emptied it of her husband. The LORD still calls it evil. Power does not baptize possession.

1 Samuel 25:2-3, 10-11, 25

² Now there was a man in Maon whose business was in Carmel. He was a very wealthy man with a thousand goats and three thousand sheep, which he was shearing in Carmel. ³ His name was Nabal, and his wife’s name was Abigail. She was an intelligent and beautiful woman, but her husband, a Calebite, was harsh and evil in his dealings. ¹⁰ But Nabal asked them, “Who is David? Who is this son of Jesse? Many servants these days are breaking away from their masters. ¹¹ Why should I take my bread and water and the meat I have slaughtered for my shearers, and give them to these men whose origin I do not know?” ²⁵ My lord should pay no attention to this scoundrel Nabal, for he lives up to his name: His name means Fool, and folly accompanies him. I, your servant, did not see my lord’s young men whom you sent.

Abigail has wisdom. Nabal has the title husband. Harsh and evil in his dealings is enough to name the incubus in a farmhouse: he blocks mercy, he risks her life by his mouth, and she must act around him in order to do what is right.

Jealousy that will not be appeased

Proverbs 6:32-35

³² He who commits adultery lacks judgment; whoever does so destroys himself. ³³ Wounds and dishonor will befall him, and his reproach will never be wiped away. ³⁴ For jealousy enrages a husband, and he will show no mercy in the day of vengeance. ³⁵ He will not be appeased by any ransom, or persuaded by lavish gifts.

Numbers 5:11-15, 29-31

¹¹ Then the LORD said to Moses, ¹² “Speak to the Israelites and tell them that if any man’s wife goes astray and is unfaithful to him ¹³ by sleeping with another man, and it is concealed from her husband and her impurity is undetected (since there is no witness against her and she was not caught in the act), ¹⁴ and if a feeling of jealousy comes over her husband and he suspects his wife who has defiled herself—or if a feeling of jealousy comes over him and he suspects her even though she has not defiled herself— ¹⁵ then he is to bring his wife to the priest. He must also bring for her an offering of a tenth of an ephah of barley flour. He is not to pour oil over it or put frankincense on it, because it is a grain offering for jealousy, an offering of memorial as a reminder of iniquity. ²⁹ This is the law of jealousy when a wife goes astray and defiles herself while under her husband’s authority, ³⁰ or when a feeling of jealousy comes over a husband and he suspects his wife. He is to have the woman stand before the LORD, and the priest is to apply to her this entire law. ³¹ The husband will be free from guilt, but the woman shall bear her iniquity.”

Fallen jealousy wants a private court. This law at least puts the suspicion before the LORD instead of before a fist. It is still a hard text. The incubus pattern ignores even that limit: he is priest, judge, and sentence in his own house, including when she has not defiled herself.

Song of Songs 8:6-7

⁶Set me as a seal over your heart, as a seal upon your arm. For love is as strong as death, its jealousy as unrelenting as Sheol. Its sparks are fiery flames, the fiercest blaze of all. ⁷Mighty waters cannot quench love; rivers cannot sweep it away. If a man were to give all the wealth of his house for love, his offer would be utterly scorned.

Holy jealousy is a seal of love, not a lock on a prisoner. The possessive man copies the heat and counterfeits the covenant.

The Lord's charge against harsh husbands

Malachi 2:13-16

¹³And this is another thing you do: You cover the altar of the LORD with tears, with weeping and groaning, because He no longer regards your offerings or receives them gladly from your hands. ¹⁴Yet you ask, "Why?" It is because the LORD has been a witness between you and the wife of your youth, against whom you have broken faith, though she is your companion and your wife by covenant. ¹⁵Has not the LORD made them one, having a portion of the Spirit? And why one? Because He seeks godly offspring. So guard yourselves in your spirit and do not break faith with the wife of your youth. ¹⁶"For I hate divorce," says the LORD, the God of Israel. "He who divorces his wife covers his garment with violence," says the LORD of Hosts. So guard yourselves in your spirit and do not break faith.

He still weeps at the altar. God does not receive it. The wife of his youth is companion and covenant, not prey. Breaking faith covers the garment with violence. That is the destructive half of the title.

Colossians 3:18-19

¹⁸Wives, submit to your husbands, as is fitting in the Lord. ¹⁹Husbands, love your wives and do not be harsh with them.

1 Peter 3:7

⁷Husbands, in the same way, treat your wives with consideration as a delicate vessel, and with honor as fellow heirs of the gracious gift of life, so that your prayers will not be hindered.

Ephesians 5:25-33

²⁵Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the church and gave Himself up for her ²⁶to sanctify her, cleansing her by the washing with water through the word, ²⁷and to present her to Himself as a glorious church, without stain or wrinkle or any such blemish, but holy and blameless. ²⁸In the same way, husbands ought to love their wives as their own bodies. He who loves his wife loves himself. ²⁹Indeed, no one ever hated his own body, but he nourishes and cherishes it, just as Christ does the church. ³⁰For we are members of His body. ³¹"For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife, and the two will become one flesh." ³²This mystery is profound, but I am speaking about Christ and the church. ³³Nevertheless, each one of you also must love his wife as he loves himself, and the wife must respect her husband.

1 Corinthians 7:3-5

³The husband should fulfill his marital duty to his wife, and likewise the wife to her husband. ⁴The wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband. Likewise the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife. ⁵Do not deprive each other, except by mutual consent and for a time, so you may devote yourselves to prayer. Then come together again, so that Satan will not tempt you through your lack of self-control.

Authority here is mutual, and the aim of a pause is prayer. The possessive man quotes the first half of verse 4 and never reads the second. He also never consents to her praying.

Matthew 19:3-9

³Then some Pharisees came and tested Him by asking, “Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife for any reason?” ⁴Jesus answered, “Have you not read that from the beginning the Creator ‘made them male and female,’ ⁵and said, ‘For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife, and the two will become one flesh’? ⁶So they are no longer two, but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let man not separate.” ⁷“Why then,” they asked, “did Moses order a man to give his wife a certificate of divorce and send her away?” ⁸Jesus replied, “Moses permitted you to divorce your wives because of your hardness of heart. But it was not this way from the beginning. ⁹Now I tell you that whoever divorces his wife, except for sexual immorality, and marries another woman commits adultery.”

Hardness of heart is the LORD's name for the man who treats a wife as disposable. The incubus pattern is hardness the other way: he will not release her to God even when he has already broken faith. Both are hardness. Neither is the beginning.

The dragon who pursues the woman

Revelation 12:13-17

¹³And when the dragon saw that he had been thrown to the earth, he pursued the woman who had given birth to the male child. ¹⁴But the woman was given two wings of a great eagle to fly from the presence of the serpent to her place in the wilderness, where she was nourished for a time, and times, and half a time. ¹⁵Then from his mouth the serpent spewed water like a river to overtake the woman and sweep her away in the torrent. ¹⁶But the earth helped the woman and opened its mouth to swallow up the river that the dragon had poured from his mouth. ¹⁷And the dragon was enraged at the woman and went to make war with the rest of her children, who keep the commandments of God and hold to the testimony of Jesus. And the dragon stood on the shore of the sea.

This is the cosmic incubus: rage at the woman because of the child and the testimony. He cannot keep her, so he tries to sweep her away, then he makes war on her children. A household tyrant is a small picture of that dragon. God's design still includes wings, wilderness provision, and a people who keep the commandments and the testimony of Jesus.

V. CLOSE

The world sells the possessive man as protector, provider, or wounded lover. Mythology painted him as incubus, skin-thief, locked-room husband, hunter-god, and spirit-husband. The Bible names Lamech's boast, sons of God who took, Shechem who took then asked, Amnon who forced then hated, Xerxes who would display a queen, David who sent to get a wife, Nabal who was harsh, husbands who cover the garment with violence, and the dragon who pursues the woman.

Christ's pattern is the opposite: He gives Himself up to make her holy. Husbands are told to love, not to be harsh, and to honor a fellow heir, or their prayers are hindered. Charm in the succubus study was a lure. Jealousy in this study is a chain. Both keep a soul from walking in the ways God has designed. The man who pleases God does not compete with God for a woman. He nourishes. He cherishes. He gets out of the way of her fear of the LORD.
