

Succubus - Tales from the World, from Mythology, from the Bible

9/21/2026 — Berean Standard Bible, quoted in full

This study is about a pattern, not a slur on women as a sex. Scripture names a forbidden woman, an adulteress, and a spirit of seduction that pulls a man off the path of holiness. The modern world sells that pattern as freedom and branding. Mythology remembered it as a siren, a fox, a night visitor. The Bible names it without fur or fins, and also holds the man responsible: he walks to her house, and he dies for lack of discipline.

In Topics 666 this sits with seduction (201), adultery (188, 251), prostitution (202), and interacting with the spirit of seduction (645), under Sexual Corruption and Whoredom. The title word succubus is later folklore for a night lure that drains. It is not a King James or Berean Bible word. It is used here as a handle for the same snare across world, myth, and Scripture.

Writing is kept PG. Myths are folk warnings, not a second Bible. Scripture text: Berean Standard Bible (public domain; formerly called the Berean Study Bible). Every passage named below is quoted in full from the BSB.

I. TALES FROM THE WORLD

In first-world and second-world countries she is rarely called a harlot to her face. She is framed as freedom, branding, income, or "just chemistry." The pattern matches Proverbs 7: loud or visually loud, not staying in a covenant home, seeking the simple man, using flattery and appearance, treating stolen pleasure as sweet, and saying afterward that she has done nothing wrong.

First-world countries

United States, Western Europe, Canada, Australia, Japan, South Korea, and similar.

- Content as a job. Subscription pages, "spicy" influencer feeds, music videos, and livestreams sell access to the body as a product. The pitch is entrepreneurship. The fruit is Proverbs 6:25: captivation by beauty and the eyes, without a covenant.
- Apps as the street corner. Dating apps, "discreet" married-person apps, and private messages replace lurking at every corner. Twilight in Proverbs 7 is now midnight scrolling in his own house.
- Images that never leave the house. What the man watches may be far away or staged. The snare is still in the heart. A man can be publicly "faithful" and privately captured.
- Sugar and mentorship language. Arrangements sold as dinners, travel, and help with rent. Proverbs already named wealth leaving a man's house.
- Openness as virtue. Multiple partners and unnamed bonds taught as honesty. Proverbs 30:20 is the old version: she eats, wipes her mouth, and says she has done nothing wrong.
- The church and office version. Coworker, ministry partner, or friend who "understands him." Potiphar's wife is proximity, persistence, then harm if refused.
- The Delilah pattern. Affection used to extract strength, secrets, money, or a calling. If you loved me, you would tell me / leave her / break your vow.
- The Jezebel pattern in religious spaces. Teaching sexual immorality as enlightenment or "freedom in grace." Revelation 2 names that in the church, not only in a brothel.

Second-world countries

Much of Eastern Europe, Russia and neighbors, large parts of Latin America, Turkey, Mexico, and similar middle-income regions.

- The same phone, a harder cash test. The branding is imported. Housing, visas, and remittances make the bargain more open. Nightlife and tourism companionship are often named as work.
- Mistress culture. Being kept treated as status. The man's house is emptied toward another household (Proverbs 5:9-10).
- Beauty as an exit from scarcity. Nightlife or marriage-for-papers advertised as a ladder. Not every woman in poverty is this type. This type uses flattery and the body as the ladder and treats covenant as optional.
- Informal selling. Local chats and "VIP" groups replace corporate platforms in some states. She is still in the street and in the squares.
- Religion mixed with the sale. Religious talk beside the hunt. Proverbs 7 already has vows in her mouth while she seeks the young man.
- Trafficking beside "choice." Scripture still calls the snare a snare. The man who buys is not innocent.

What both worlds share: she is marketed as the prize of a successful man; holiness is mocked as repression; the wife of his youth is framed as boring; stolen water is called sweet; the end is still ruin of flesh, ruin of name, and a heart turned from God.

II. TALES FROM MYTHOLOGY

These are not Scripture. They are how many nations remembered a lure that looks beautiful, speaks well, delays a man from his duty, and leaves him weaker, bound, or dead. Read them as folk memory of the same snare, not as rival goddesses to honor. Where old religions named spirits and idols, the New Testament says the nations sacrificed to demons, not to God.

1 Corinthians 10:19-21

¹⁹ Am I suggesting, then, that food sacrificed to an idol is anything, or that an idol is anything? ²⁰ No, but the sacrifices of pagans are offered to demons, not to God. And I do not want you to be participants with demons. ²¹ You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons too; you cannot partake in the table of the Lord and the table of demons too.

The tales below stay PG. The danger is entrapment: a call off the road, not a scene to repeat. Each named term has a short hear MP3. German, Greek, Japanese, Korean, Chinese, Hindi, Malay, Indonesian, Russian, and Spanish names are spoken in those languages so the vowels are not an English guess. English literary names (siren, Circe, succubus, mermaid, Morgan le Fay) are spoken in English. Tap or click hear; in the PDF the same word is a link to the clip.

Water and voice

- Sirens hear (Greek). They do not chase with a sword. They sing. Sailors turn the helm toward the sound and wreck. The lure is attention and longing, not a fair fight.
- Lorelei hear (German recording of Loreley), nixies hear (German Nixe), rusalki hear (Russian русалка), mermaids hear. A fair woman at the water who calls a man off the path, the boat, or the wedding road. He follows and does not come back.

- Calypso hear (Greek Καλυψώ, the nymph, not the music) and Circe hear (Homer; English literary "SUR-see"). Not monsters. They keep Odysseus with comfort, charm, and delayed homecoming. The wound is years stolen from covenant and calling.

Night visitors and life-drain

- Succubus hear (medieval European lore). A night spirit in female form said to visit men in sleep, leaving them exhausted and tied to a fantasy. The meaning of the tale: a drain, a bond, and a secret life that holiness cannot share. This is the title's folk name.
- Leanan sídhe hear (Irish; spoken here as LAN-awn shee). A muse-lover. She gives inspiration; the artist withers. Gift in one hand, lifespan in the other.
- Lamia hear (Greek Λάμια) / empusa hear (Greek Ἐμπούσα). Beautiful at first look; the tale ends in the victim consumed. Folklore's way of saying the pretty invitation is not safe.

East and Southeast Asia

- Fox spirits: huli jing hear (Chinese 狐狸精), kitsune hear (Japanese きつね), kumiho hear (Korean 구미호). A fox in a woman's shape. She marries, flatters, or serves in a house while remaining other than human. The man loses clarity, sometimes years, sometimes his life.
- Jorōgumo hear (Japanese じょうろぐも). A spider in a woman's shape who binds. The picture is a web, not romance.
- Pontianak hear (Malay) / kuntilanak hear (Indonesian). Often a vengeful spirit who appears as a woman on the road at night. The warning to men: do not follow the figure who should not be there.

South Asia

- Apsaras hear (Hindi अप्सरा). Heavenly dancers in Hindu story sent so that a sage's austerity breaks. The point of the tale is distraction from a holy vow.
- Yakshinis hear (Hindi यक्षिणी) in some later tales: beautiful guardians who can bless or ensnare. The danger-version is still a man pulled off his path by charm.

The Americas

- La Tunda hear, La Patasola hear, and similar forest women (parts of Colombia and nearby). They appear as a loved woman or a beauty on a trail. The man who follows leaves the road and is lost. A later tell (one foot, a hollow back, a changed face) is the sign that he did not follow a wife.
- La Sayona hear (Venezuela). A woman who appears to unfaithful men. Folk justice story: the snare comes dressed as desire and ends as terror.

Named enchantresses

Delilah is Bible. Morgan le Fay hear and similar court ladies are legend. Arthurian story uses a woman of the court who binds a knight with love-magic or a lie. Same moral: strength given away in private.

What the myths keep repeating: she is seen or heard first, not known in covenant. She calls him off the road, the ship, the vow, the fast, or the home. She uses song, flattery, loneliness, or a copied face. The cost is strength, years, sanity, or life. The man is almost never dragged against a locked will. He turns.

That is why these tales sit between the modern market and the Bible. The first world sells the siren as content. The second world often sells her as nightlife and a ticket out. The old world painted her as fox, water-woman, or night visitor. Proverbs names her as the forbidden woman with seductive words, whose house is the road to Sheol.

III. TALES FROM THE BIBLE

The longest portrait is in Proverbs. Then come houses and palaces: Potiphar's wife, Delilah, Solomon's wives, Jezebel. Then the man's own eyes. Then a city and a church dressed in the same spirit.

The core portrait

Proverbs 2:16-19

¹⁶It will rescue you from the forbidden woman, from the stranger with seductive words ¹⁷who abandons the partner of her youth and forgets the covenant of her God. ¹⁸For her house sinks down to death, and her tracks to the departed spirits. ¹⁹None who go to her return or negotiate the paths of life.

Proverbs 5:1-23

¹My son, pay attention to my wisdom; incline your ear to my insight, ²that you may maintain discretion and your lips may preserve knowledge. ³Though the lips of the forbidden woman drip honey and her speech is smoother than oil, ⁴in the end she is bitter as wormwood, sharp as a double-edged sword. ⁵Her feet go down to death; her steps lead straight to Sheol. ⁶She does not consider the path of life; she does not know that her ways are unstable. ⁷So now, my sons, listen to me, and do not turn aside from the words of my mouth. ⁸Keep your path far from her; do not go near the door of her house, ⁹lest you concede your vigor to others, and your years to one who is cruel; ¹⁰lest strangers feast on your wealth, and your labors enrich the house of a foreigner. ¹¹At the end of your life you will groan when your flesh and your body are spent, ¹²and you will say, "How I hated discipline, and my heart despised reproof! ¹³I did not listen to the voice of my teachers or incline my ear to my mentors. ¹⁴I am on the brink of utter ruin in the midst of the whole assembly." ¹⁵Drink water from your own cistern, and running water from your own well. ¹⁶Why should your springs flow in the streets, your streams of water in the public squares? ¹⁷Let them be yours alone, never to be shared with strangers. ¹⁸May your fountain be blessed, and may you rejoice in the wife of your youth: ¹⁹A loving doe, a graceful fawn— may her breasts satisfy you always; may you be captivated by her love forever. ²⁰Why be captivated, my son, by an adulteress, or embrace the bosom of a stranger? ²¹For a man's ways are before the eyes of the LORD, and the LORD examines all his paths. ²²The iniquities of a wicked man entrap him; the cords of his sin entangle him. ²³He dies for lack of discipline, led astray by his own great folly.

Proverbs 6:24-35

²⁴to keep you from the evil woman, from the smooth tongue of the adulteress. ²⁵Do not lust in your heart for her beauty or let her captivate you with her eyes. ²⁶For the levy of the prostitute is poverty, and the adulteress preys upon your very life. ²⁷Can a man embrace fire and his clothes not be burned? ²⁸Can a man walk on hot coals without scorching his feet? ²⁹So is he who sleeps with another man's wife; no one who touches her will go unpunished. ³⁰Men do not despise the thief if he steals to satisfy his hunger. ³¹Yet if caught, he must pay sevenfold; he must give up all the wealth of his house. ³²He who commits adultery lacks judgment; whoever does so destroys himself. ³³Wounds and dishonor will befall him, and his reproach will never be wiped away. ³⁴For jealousy enrages a husband, and he will show no mercy in the day of vengeance. ³⁵He will not be appeased by any ransom, or persuaded by lavish gifts.

Proverbs 7:1-27

¹My son, keep my words and treasure my commandments within you. ²Keep my commandments and live; guard my teachings as the apple of your eye. ³Tie them to your fingers; write them on the tablet of your heart. ⁴Say to wisdom, "You are my sister," and call understanding your kinsman, ⁵that they may keep you from the adulteress, from the stranger with seductive words. ⁶ For at the window of my house I looked through the lattice. ⁷ I saw among the simple, I noticed among the youths, a young man lacking judgment, ⁸ crossing the street near her corner, strolling down the road to her house, ⁹ at twilight, as the day was fading into the dark of the night. ¹⁰ Then a woman came out to meet him, with the attire of a harlot and cunning of heart. ¹¹ She is loud and defiant; her feet do not remain at home. ¹² Now in the street, now in the squares, she lurks at every corner. ¹³ She seizes him and kisses him; she brazenly says to him: ¹⁴ “I have made my peace offerings; today I have paid my vows. ¹⁵ So I came out to meet you; I sought you, and I have found you. ¹⁶ I have decked my bed with coverings, with colored linen from Egypt. ¹⁷ I have perfumed my bed with myrrh, with aloes, and with cinnamon. ¹⁸ Come, let us take our fill of love till morning. Let us delight in loving caresses! ¹⁹ For my husband is not at home; he has gone on a long journey. ²⁰ He took with him a bag of money and will not return till the moon is full.” ²¹ With her great persuasion she entices him; with her flattering lips she lures him. ²² He follows her on impulse, like an ox going to the slaughter, like a deer bounding into a trap, ²³ until an arrow pierces his liver, like a bird darting into a snare— not knowing it will cost him his life. ²⁴ Now, my sons, listen to me, and attend to the words of my mouth. ²⁵ Do not let your heart turn aside to her ways; do not stray into her paths. ²⁶ For she has brought many down to death; her slain are many in number. ²⁷ Her house is the road to Sheol, descending to the chambers of death.

Proverbs 9:13-18

¹³ The woman named Folly is loud; she is naive and knows nothing. ¹⁴ She sits at the door of her house, on a seat in the heights of the city, ¹⁵ calling out to those who pass by, who make their paths straight. ¹⁶ “Whoever is simple, let him turn in here!” she says to him who lacks judgment. ¹⁷ “Stolen water is sweet, and bread eaten in secret is tasty!” ¹⁸ But they do not know that the dead are there, that her guests are in the depths of Sheol.

Proverbs 22:14

¹⁴ The mouth of an adulteress is a deep pit; he who is under the wrath of the LORD will fall into it.

Proverbs 23:27-28

²⁷ For a prostitute is a deep pit, and an adulteress is a narrow well. ²⁸ Like a robber she lies in wait and multiplies the faithless among men.

Proverbs 30:20

²⁰ This is the way of an adulteress: She eats and wipes her mouth and says, ‘I have done nothing wrong.’

Ecclesiastes 7:26

²⁶ And I find more bitter than death the woman who is a snare, whose heart is a net, and whose hands are chains. The man who pleases God escapes her, but the sinner is ensnared.

Narrative examples

Genesis 39:7-12

⁷ and after some time his master’s wife cast her eyes upon Joseph and said, “Sleep with me.” ⁸ But he refused. “Look,” he said to his master’s wife, “with me here, my master does not concern himself with anything in his house, and he has entrusted everything he owns to my care. ⁹ No one in this house is greater than I am. He has withheld nothing from me except you, because you are his wife. So how could I do such a great evil and sin against God?” ¹⁰ Although Potiphar’s wife spoke to Joseph day after day, he refused to go to bed with her or even be near her. ¹¹ One day, however, Joseph went into the house to attend to his work, and not a single household servant was inside. ¹² She grabbed Joseph by his cloak and said, “Sleep with me!” But leaving his cloak in her hand, he escaped and ran outside.

Judges 16:4-21

⁴ Some time later, Samson fell in love with a woman in the Valley of Sorek, whose name was Delilah. ⁵ The lords of the Philistines went to her and said, “Entice him and find out the source of his great strength and how we can overpower him to tie him up and subdue him. Then each one of us will give you eleven hundred shekels of silver.” ⁶ So Delilah said to Samson, “Please tell me the source of your great strength and how you can be tied up and subdued.” ⁷ Samson told her, “If they tie me up with seven fresh bowstrings that have not been dried, I will become as weak as any other man.” ⁸ So the lords of the Philistines brought her seven fresh bowstrings that had not been dried, and she tied him up with them. ⁹ While the men were hidden in her room, she called out, “Samson, the Philistines are here!” But he snapped the bowstrings like a strand of yarn seared by a flame. So the source of his strength remained unknown. ¹⁰ Then Delilah said to Samson, “You have mocked me and lied to me! Now please tell me how you can be tied up.” ¹¹ He replied, “If they tie me up with new ropes that have never been used, I will become as weak as any other man.” ¹² So Delilah took new ropes, tied him up with them, and called out, “Samson, the Philistines are here!” But while the men were hidden in her room, he snapped the ropes off his arms like they were threads. ¹³ Then Delilah said to Samson, “You have mocked me and lied to me all along! Tell me how you can be tied up.” He told her, “If you weave the seven braids of my head into the web of a loom and tighten it with a pin, I will become as weak as any other man.” ¹⁴ So while he slept, Delilah took the seven braids of his hair and wove them into the web. Then she tightened it with a pin and called to him, “Samson, the Philistines are here!” But he awoke from his sleep and pulled out the pin with the loom and the web. ¹⁵ “How can you say, ‘I love you,’” she asked, “when your heart is not with me? This is the third time you have mocked me and failed to reveal to me the source of your great strength!” ¹⁶ Finally, after she had pressed him daily with her words and pleaded until he was sick to death, ¹⁷ Samson told her all that was in his heart: “My hair has never been cut, because I have been a Nazirite to God from my mother’s womb. If I am shaved, my strength will leave me, and I will become as weak as any other man.” ¹⁸ When Delilah realized that he had revealed to her all that was in his heart, she sent this message to the lords of the Philistines: “Come up once more, for he has revealed to me all that is in his heart.” Then the lords of the Philistines came to her, bringing the money in their hands. ¹⁹ And having lulled him to sleep on her lap, she called a man to shave off the seven braids of his head. In this way she began to subdue him, and his strength left him. ²⁰ Then she called out, “Samson, the Philistines are here!” When Samson awoke from his sleep, he thought, “I will escape as I did before and shake myself free.” But he did not know that the LORD had departed from him. ²¹ Then the Philistines seized him, gouged out his eyes, and brought him down to Gaza, where he was bound with bronze shackles and forced to grind grain in the prison.

1 Kings 11:1-4

¹ King Solomon, however, loved many foreign women along with the daughter of Pharaoh—women of Moab, Ammon, Edom, and Sidon, as well as Hittite women. ² These women were from the nations about which the LORD had told the Israelites, “You must not intermarry with them, for surely they will turn your hearts after their gods.” Yet Solomon clung to these women in love. ³ He had seven hundred wives of royal birth and three hundred concubines—and his wives turned his heart away. ⁴ For when Solomon grew old, his wives turned his heart after other gods, and he was not wholeheartedly devoted to the LORD his God, as his father David had been.

1 Kings 21:25

²⁵ (Surely there was never one like Ahab, who sold himself to do evil in the sight of the LORD, incited by his wife Jezebel.

Revelation 2:20-23

²⁰ But I have this against you: You tolerate that woman Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess. By her teaching she misleads My servants to be sexually immoral and to eat food sacrificed to idols. ²¹ Even though I have given her time to repent of her immorality, she is unwilling. ²² Behold, I will cast her onto a bed of sickness, and those who commit adultery with her will suffer great tribulation unless they repent of her deeds. ²³ Then I will strike her children dead, and all the churches will know that I am the One who searches minds and hearts, and I will repay each of you according to your deeds.

The man's side

The snare is not blamed on her alone. He looks. He walks. He stays.

Matthew 5:27-28

²⁷ You have heard that it was said, 'Do not commit adultery.' ²⁸ But I tell you that anyone who looks at a woman to lust after her has already committed adultery with her in his heart.

1 Corinthians 6:15-20

¹⁵ Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then take the members of Christ and unite them with a prostitute? Never! ¹⁶ Or don't you know that he who unites himself with a prostitute is one with her in body? For it is said, "The two will become one flesh." ¹⁷ But he who unites himself with the Lord is one with Him in spirit. ¹⁸ Flee from sexual immorality. Every other sin a man can commit is outside his body, but he who sins sexually sins against his own body. ¹⁹ Do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit who is in you, whom you have received from God? You are not your own; ²⁰ you were bought at a price. Therefore glorify God with your body.

1 Thessalonians 4:3-8

³ For it is God's will that you should be holy: You must abstain from sexual immorality; ⁴ each of you must know how to control his own body in holiness and honor, ⁵ not in lustful passion like the Gentiles who do not know God; ⁶ and no one should ever violate or exploit his brother in this regard, because the Lord will avenge all such acts, as we have already told you and solemnly warned you. ⁷ For God has not called us to impurity, but to holiness. ⁸ Anyone, then, who rejects this command does not reject man but God, the very One who gives you His Holy Spirit.

Proverbs 31:30-31

³⁰ Charm is deceptive and beauty is fleeting, but a woman who fears the LORD is to be praised. ³¹ Give her the fruit of her hands, and let her works praise her at the gates.

When the "woman" is also a city, a church, or a spirit

Nahum 3:1-4

¹ Woe to the city of blood, full of lies, full of plunder, never without prey. ² The crack of the whip, the rumble of the wheel, galloping horse and bounding chariot! ³ Charging horseman, flashing sword, shining spear; heaps of slain, mounds of corpses, dead bodies without end— they stumble over their dead— ⁴ because of the many harlotries of the harlot, the seductive mistress of sorcery, who betrays nations by her prostitution and clans by her witchcraft.

Revelation 17:1-6

¹Then one of the seven angels with the seven bowls came and said to me, “Come, I will show you the punishment of the great prostitute, who sits on many waters. ²The kings of the earth were immoral with her, and those who dwell on the earth were intoxicated with the wine of her immorality.” ³And the angel carried me away in the Spirit into a wilderness, where I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast that was covered with blasphemous names and had seven heads and ten horns. ⁴The woman was dressed in purple and scarlet, and adorned with gold and precious stones and pearls. She held in her hand a golden cup full of abominations and the impurities of her sexual immorality. ⁵And on her forehead a mysterious name was written: BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF PROSTITUTES AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH. ⁶I could see that the woman was drunk with the blood of the saints and witnesses for Jesus. And I was utterly amazed at the sight of her.

Revelation 18:1-3

¹After this I saw another angel descending from heaven with great authority, and the earth was illuminated by his glory. ²And he cried out in a mighty voice: “Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great! She has become a lair for demons and a haunt for every unclean spirit, every unclean bird, and every detestable beast. ³All the nations have drunk the wine of the passion of her immorality. The kings of the earth were immoral with her, and the merchants of the earth have grown wealthy from the extravagance of her luxury.”

V. CLOSE

The world sells the snare as content and as a ladder. Mythology painted it as siren, fox, water-woman, and night visitor. The Bible names the forbidden woman, the adulteress, Delilah, Jezebel, and Babylon, and then tells the man to flee, to rejoice in the wife of his youth, and to be one spirit with the Lord. Charm is deceptive. Beauty is fleeting. A woman who fears the LORD is to be praised. The man who pleases God escapes the snare. The sinner is ensnared.
