Positive Emotions

Source: <https://amojolife.wordpress.com/resources/positive-emotions-list/> - 76 words

Absorbed

So into something (a game, book, project) that the rest of the world fades out for a while.

Accepting

Okay with how things are — people, situations, yourself — without fighting reality every second.

Accommodating

Willing to adjust and make room for others so things can work for everyone.

Accomplished

That "I actually did it" feeling after finishing something that took real effort.

Adaptable

You can roll with change — new school, new plan, surprise problem — without totally falling apart.

Adversarial *

Usually negative: treating people like opponents you have to beat. Odd on this list.

Agreeable

Easy to get along with; you are willing to cooperate instead of picking fights.

Alert

Switched on — noticing what is happening around you and ready to respond.

Altruistic

You care about helping others even when there is nothing in it for you.

Analytical

You break problems into pieces and think them through logically.

Approving

You look at someone or something and think, "Yeah, that is good / that works."

Authentic

Real — you are not faking a personality to impress people.

Balanced

Not living in extremes; work, rest, emotions, and relationships feel steadier.

Beautiful

Seeing or feeling beauty — in art, nature, a moment, or even yourself.

Brave

You do the right or hard thing even when you are scared.

Calm

Settled inside — not revved up, not panicking; your nervous system is chill.

Cheerful

Upbeat mood; you bring a little light into the room.

Compassionate

You feel with people who are hurting and want to help, not just stare.

Confident

You trust you can handle stuff — or at least try without collapsing.

Content

Not chasing more every second; you are okay with what you have right now.

Cooperative

You work with people instead of against them.

Courageous

Same family as brave — stepping up when it costs you something.

Creative

You make new ideas, art, solutions, or jokes that did not exist before.

Curious

You actually want to know how things work and why people do what they do.

Dignified

You carry yourself with self-respect — not sloppy, not desperate for approval.

Eccentric

A little weird in your own unique way — and you are fine with that.

Ecstatic

Over-the-top happy — like winning something huge or hearing the best news ever.

Empathic

You can feel what someone else might be feeling, not just your own side.

Empowered

You believe you have real say in your life and can make things happen.

Excited

Amped up in a good way — something good is coming or happening.

Expressive

You let your feelings and thoughts show — through words, art, humor, whatever.

Extroverted

You get energy from people; being around others charges you up.

Fair

You try to be even-handed — not playing favorites or bending rules for yourself.

Faithful

Loyal and steady — you stick to people, promises, or beliefs you have committed to.

Glad

Happy about something specific — "I am glad you came," "glad that is over."

Grateful

You notice what is good and actually appreciate it instead of taking it for granted.

Happy

General good mood — life feels lighter and more pleasant.

Helpful

You jump in to make someone's load easier when you can.

Hesitant *

Usually negative: holding back because you are unsure or scared. Odd on this list.

Idealistic

You believe things should be better and you care about big values like justice or truth.

Individualistic

You think for yourself and do not just copy the crowd to fit in.

Inspired

Something sparked you — an idea, person, song — and now you want to do something.

Interested

Something catches your attention and you want to learn or engage more.

Introspective

You look inward — thinking about your motives, patterns, and what you really feel.

Invulnerable

Feeling like nothing can touch you — strong, protected, untouchable. (Can be real confidence or denial.)

Joyful

Deep, bright happiness — not just "fine," but genuinely glad to be alive.

Likable

People enjoy being around you; you are pleasant without being fake.

Lively

Full of energy and spark; you animate a room.

Loved

You feel cared for and valued by someone — not alone in that way.

Loving

You are giving care, warmth, and loyalty to others.

Mediating

You help two sides calm down and find middle ground instead of escalating.

Open

Willing to hear new ideas, feelings, and experiences without slamming the door.

Passionate

You care hard about something — a cause, person, hobby, goal.

Peaceful

Inner quiet — little internal war, even if the outside world is noisy.

Pleased

Satisfied with how something turned out — a grade, a conversation, a meal.

Powerful

You feel capable and influential — like your choices actually matter.

Practical

You focus on what actually works in real life, not just cool theories.

Proud

Healthy pride: you are glad about something you did or who you are becoming.

Purposeful

Your life feels like it is going somewhere that means something.

Rejoicing

Celebrating hard — gratitude and happiness spilling out.

Responsible

You own your duties and follow through on what you said you would do.

Self accepting

You are okay being you — flaws included — without constant self-attack.

Sensitive

You pick up on vibes and feelings (yours and others') — can be a strength.

Serene

Deep calm — like a still lake inside you.

Serenity

The state of that calm — quiet steadiness.

Stable

Emotions and life do not feel like a roller coaster every hour.

Stimulated

Your brain is engaged and awake — interested, challenged, alive.

Tolerant

You can live alongside differences — opinions, styles, backgrounds — without freaking out.

Understanding

You get where someone is coming from, even if you disagree.

Unconcerned

Not worried or bothered — either healthy chill or not caring when you should. (Depends.)

Visionary

You see possibilities others miss — future ideas, big dreams, new paths.

Well-meaning

Your intentions are good even if you sometimes mess up the execution.

Wise

You have learned from life and give advice or choices that actually hold up over time.

Worthy

You feel you deserve respect, love, and a place in the world — not garbage.

In service

You are oriented toward helping others, not just yourself.

Important

You feel your life and role matter — you are not invisible.

Positive Attitudes

Source: <https://amojolife.wordpress.com/resources/positive-attitude-list/> - 70 words

Acceptance

Willingness to receive people and reality as they are instead of constantly rejecting.

Accepts others points of view

You can hear different opinions without treating disagreement as war.

Affectionate

Warm and closeness-oriented — hugs, kind words, gentle energy.

Ambitious

You want to grow, achieve, and reach higher — you are not satisfied staying small.

Aspiring

You are reaching toward a better version of yourself or a goal you care about.

Candid

Honest and direct — you say what you mean without sneaky games.

Caring

You look out for people's well-being; their pain matters to you.

Change

Openness to growth and new ways — you do not need everything frozen forever.

Cheerful

Bright, friendly default mood that lifts the people around you.

Considerate

You think about how your actions land on others before you act.

Cooperative

Team-player mindset — shared win over solo glory.

Courageous

Willing to face fear, speak up, or do hard things when it counts.

Decisive

You can pick a direction and commit instead of spinning forever.

Determined

Once you decide, you keep pushing even when it gets ugly.

Devoted

Loyal and all-in toward someone or something you have pledged yourself to.

Embraces

You welcome experiences, people, or truth instead of dodging them.

Endurance

You can keep going through boredom, pain, or delay without quitting immediately.

Enthusiastic

Genuinely pumped — your energy shows you care.

Expansive

Big-hearted and open — room for ideas, people, and possibilities.

Faith

Trust in God, people, process, or hope — believing good can hold even when you cannot see it yet.

Flexible

You bend when plans change instead of snapping.

Focused

You lock in on what matters and do not drift every five seconds.

Forgiving

You release grudges and let people (including yourself) move forward after hurt.

Freedom

Valuing the ability to choose, grow, and not be controlled — for you and others.

Friendly

Approachable and kind toward people; you do not act like everyone is an enemy.

Frugal

Smart with money and time — not wasteful, not reckless.

Generous

You give — time, money, attention, credit — without hoarding everything.

Goodwill

You want good for others, not harm; basic "I am on your side" energy.

Grateful

Habit of noticing and thanking for what is good in life.

Hard working

You show up and put in effort even when motivation dips.

Honest

Truth is your default — you do not build your life on lies.

Humble

You know you are not the center of the universe; you can learn and apologize.

Involved

You participate — you do not sit on the sidelines of your own life or community.

Kind

You treat people with gentleness and respect, especially when you could be harsh.

Motivated

You have inner drive pushing you toward goals.

Not jealous

You can celebrate others' wins without secretly wanting to tear them down.

Open minded

Willing to consider ideas that are not yours yet.

Optimistic

You expect things can work out — not blind, but hopeful.

Perseverance

Keep-going grit when everything says stop.

Positive

You look for solutions and good possibilities instead of drowning in doom.

Practical

Feet-on-the-ground thinking — what will actually work Monday morning?

Punctual

You respect time — yours and others' — by showing up when you said you would.

Realistic

You see things as they are, not only as you wish they were.

Reliable

People can count on you to do what you said.

Responsible

You own your role, mistakes, and duties.

Responsive

When someone reaches out, you answer — you do not ghost the people who matter.

Self-confident

You trust your ability to learn, decide, and handle life.

Self-directed

You steer your choices — not just parents, trends, or fear.

Self-disciplined

You can delay gratification and stick to rules you chose.

Self-esteem

Healthy sense that you have value even when you fail a test or lose a friend.

Self-giving

You invest yourself for others' good, not only your comfort.

Selfless

You consider others' needs alongside (or before) your own when it matters.

Self-reliant

You can stand on your own feet and solve problems without always needing a rescue.

Sensitive

Attuned to feelings and atmosphere — you notice what others miss.

Serious

You take important things seriously instead of joking through everything.

Sincere

What you say matches what you mean — no performance personality.

Social independence

You are okay being yourself in groups; you do not need everyone's approval to function.

Sympathetic

You feel for people who are struggling and show it.

Thoughtful

You think before you speak or act; you consider impact.

Thoughtful towards others

Specifically aimed at not being careless with people's hearts.

Trusting

You give people reasonable benefit of the doubt instead of assuming the worst.

Tolerant

Live-and-let-live toward differences that do not require war.

Unpretentiousness

No fake "I am better than you" act — down-to-earth.

Unselfish

You do not hog everything — spotlight, resources, last slice — for yourself.

Willingness

Ready to try, help, change, or show up when asked.

Work-oriented

You value effort and getting things done over pure vibes.

Interested

Engaged with learning and people — curiosity as a lifestyle.

Distant *

Usually negative: keeping emotional space on purpose. Odd on this list.

Gloomy *

Negative: dark, pessimistic mood. Definitely misplaced here.

Responsibility

The attitude that "this is mine to carry" — ownership of your part in life.

Negative Emotions

Source: <https://amojolife.wordpress.com/resources/negative-emotions-list/> - 133 words

Abusive

Hurting someone on purpose with words, actions, or control — a pattern, not one bad day.

Aggressive

Coming at people hard — yelling, shoving, intimidation, win-at-all-costs energy.

Angry

Hot, fired-up feeling when something feels unfair, blocked, or disrespectful.

Annoyed

Mild irritation — the pencil tap, the repeat question, the slow walker.

Antagonistic

Almost looking for conflict; you poke bears on purpose.

Anxious

Worried and on edge about what might go wrong; body might feel tight or shaky.

Arrogant

Acting like you are above everyone and their opinions are worthless.

Ashamed

Feeling like you are bad or broken, not just that you messed up once.

Belligerent

Hostile and ready to fight; will not stand down easily.

Bitter

Old hurt that turned into ongoing resentment you keep chewing on.

Bored

Nothing feels worth your attention; you are unstimulated and stuck.

Broken down

Emotionally or mentally exhausted — like you hit a wall.

Bullied

Repeatedly targeted, mocked, or pushed around by someone with more power in that setting.

Chaotic

Life or your head feels messy, unpredictable, out of control.

Cold

Emotionally shut off; little warmth or connection toward others.

Commanding

Bossing people around and expecting obedience.

Competitive

Everything is a contest; beating others matters more than doing well.

Complaining

Fixating on what is wrong over and over without fixing anything.

Conceited

Too in love with yourself; you think you are the main character everywhere.

Condemned

Feeling judged, guilty, and like you deserve punishment with no way out.

Conflicted

Pulled two ways inside — want one thing, want the opposite too.

Confused

Do not understand what is happening, what you feel, or what to do.

Conservative

On this list: rigid, resistant to change — "my way / the old way only."

Controlled

Someone else runs your choices; you feel you have little say.

Controlling

You micromanage people and situations because fear says you must.

Cowardly

Fear wins; you avoid doing what you know is right or needed.

Critical

Always spotting flaws — in yourself, others, everything — harshly.

Cruel

Willing to hurt people, sometimes for your own satisfaction.

Defeated

Already feel like you lost; trying seems pointless.

Deluded

Believing things that are not true and not seeing reality clearly.

Demanding

Expecting a lot and getting upset when it is not delivered.

Dependent

Leaning on someone else for worth, decisions, or stability in an unhealthy way.

Depressed

Ongoing sadness, emptiness, low energy, little hope — more than a bad day.

Desperate

So scared or needy you will do almost anything to fix the feeling.

Destitute

Feeling completely empty inside — nothing left in the tank spiritually or emotionally.

Destructive

You damage relationships, future, or self — on purpose or without caring.

Detached

Checked out emotionally; present in body, not in connection.

Disconnected

Not linked to people, purpose, or your own feelings.

Discouraged

Motivation got knocked down; hard to believe things improve.

Disgusted

Strong "this is gross/wrong/unbearable" reaction.

Dominated

Someone overpowers you; you feel small under their influence.

Dominating

You overpower others so they submit to you.

Egocentric

World revolves around you; others' needs barely register.

Egotistical

Big ego — need admiration, think you are above most people.

Envious

Want what someone else has and resent that they have it.

Erratic

Mood or behavior swings unpredictably; people cannot count on you.

Frightened

Scared something bad is coming or happening.

Frustrated

Blocked from a goal; irritated because nothing is working.

Good *

Normally positive — probably misplaced on this list.

Greedy

Always wanting more — stuff, attention, control — never satisfied.

Grieving

Deep sadness after loss — death, breakup, big life change.

Hatred

Intense ongoing hostility toward someone or something.

Hopeless

Cannot see how anything could improve; future looks dark.

Ignorant

Do not know what you need to know — never learned or refused to learn.

Impatient

Hate waiting; want results now; get irritated when life is slow.

Impoverished

Feeling spiritually or emotionally broke — empty inside.

Impulsive

Act on first urge without thinking about consequences.

Indifferent

Do not care much either way; nothing really matters.

Inert

Frozen and unmoving — cannot get yourself going.

Insecure

Doubt your value; worry constantly what others think.

Insensitive

Do not notice or care how your words or actions hit others.

Irresponsible

Do not own choices; dodge duties; let others clean up.

Irritated

Low-level "ugh" — things getting on your nerves.

Isolated

Alone in a way that hurts; do not feel you belong.

Jealous

Afraid of losing someone or something to a rival; insecurity mixed in.

Judged

Feel like others are watching and condemning you.

Judgemental

Quick to label people wrong or less-than without grace.

Lazy

Avoid effort when you know you should move; choose easy over necessary.

Lonely

Alone and hurting — even in a crowd, not truly connected.

Lost

No direction; do not know who you are or where you are going.

Mad

Really angry — might explode or simmer hard.

Manipulated

Someone steers you through guilt, lies, charm, or pressure.

Manipulative

You twist people or situations to get what you want instead of being straight.

Miserable

Deeply unhappy most of the time; life feels heavy.

Moody

Emotional weather changes fast; people walk on eggshells.

Moral *

Usually positive — here may mean preachy or rigid about rules.

Negative

Default to the bad side — expect failure, drama, worst outcomes.

Noble *

Usually positive — here may mean acting superior or self-righteous.

Obsessed

One thing takes over your mind and will not let go.

Panicked

Sudden intense fear — heart racing, cannot think straight.

Paranoid

Convinced people are against you without solid proof.

Passive

Let life happen; do not speak up or act when you should.

Perfectionist

Nothing is ever good enough; small flaw equals total failure.

Pitiful

Feel so weak or sad you (or others) see you as someone to pity.

Poor

Feeling lacking — not enough support, resources, or inner strength.

Possessive

Treat a person like property you control, not a free human.

Preoccupied

Mind stuck on one worry or topic; cannot be present.

Procrastination

Putting off what you need to do until last minute or never.

Punished

Feel like you are paying for something — by life, people, or guilt.

Punishing

Hurt others (or yourself) as payback.

Rage

Anger so intense it is almost uncontrollable.

Reactionary

Respond instantly without thinking — blow up or shut down.

Reclusive

Pull away from people; hide from the world.

Rejected

Feel unwanted, excluded, not chosen.

Repressed

Push feelings or memories down so hard you barely know they are there.

Resentful

Hold onto anger about how you were treated; will not let go.

Resigned

Given up fighting for change — "this is just how it is."

Responsible *

Usually positive — here may mean carrying guilt for everything, even what is not your fault.

Ridiculous

Feel foolish or embarrassed like a joke — or treat others that way.

Righteous

Here: self-righteous — morally superior, looking down on others.

Ruthless

Crush people or rules to get what you want; no mercy.

Sad

Down, hurt, sorrowful — often with tears or heaviness.

Sadistic

Get pleasure from hurting or humiliating someone — serious red flag.

Secretive

Hide a lot; people cannot really know you.

Self condemning

Attack yourself in your head — "I am terrible, I ruin everything."

Self defeating

Sabotage your own success without meaning to.

Self destructive

Hurt yourself (risky behavior, burning bridges) because pain feels familiar.

Self hatred

Genuinely dislike or hate who you are.

Self obsessed

Most thoughts are about you — image, pain, drama.

Self pity

"Poor me" — wallow instead of moving forward.

Self sabotaging

Wreck opportunities right when things could go well.

Selfish

Put your wants first most of the time; little room for others.

Shamed

Public humiliation feeling — exposed as bad.

Shut down

Emotionally numb; closed the door on feeling because it hurt too much.

Shy

Uncomfortable around people; hold back from fear of judgment.

Sorry

Here: guilt or worthlessness ("I am sorry I exist"), not apologizing.

Stricken

Hit hard by grief, shock, or guilt — wind knocked out of you.

Strung out

Wired, exhausted, overwhelmed — stress, no sleep, or substances.

Stubborn

Will not bend even when wrong or when compromise would help.

Superior

Act above others — smarter, better, more important.

Tantrums

Meltdown when you do not get your way — yelling, throwing, dramatic shutdown.

Timid

Scared to speak up or take risks; shrink back.

Unconcerned

Do not care about things that probably should matter.

Unforgiving

Hold grudges; will not release what someone did.

Unhappy

Baseline mood is down; not satisfied with life.

Unresponsive

Do not react when people reach out — emotionally unavailable.

Untrusting

Assume people will hurt, lie, or disappoint you.

Vain

Obsessed with how you look or how others see you.

Vengeance

Want to get even — hurt them back.

Vicious

Mean in a sharp, attacking way — meant to wound.

Victimized

Feel life or people keep doing you wrong and you have no power.

Violent

Physical or verbal aggression that can harm someone.

Wise *

Normally positive — probably misplaced on this list.

Negative Attitudes

Affected

Acting fake or overly dramatic to get reactions.

Aloof

Cool, distant, uninterested — hard to approach on purpose.

Apathetic

"Whatever" — do not invest care or effort in much.

Arrogant

Attitude that you are above others.

Authoritarian

"My way or the highway" — demand obedience.

Hard-hearted; others' pain does not move you.

Cheerless

Gloomy outlook; rarely bring light.

Closed

Not open to new ideas, people, or feedback.

Cold

Distant and unfeeling toward others.

Combative

Treat conversations like battles to win.

Complacent

Comfortable staying mediocre; will not push to grow.

Conceited

Think highly of yourself in a show-off way.

Constricted

Tight, limited thinking or living — no room to breathe or change.

Controlling

Need to run situations and people to feel okay.

Convenience

Only show up or care when it is easy or benefits you.

Covetous

Want what belongs to others — stuff, status, relationships.

Cowering

Shrink back in fear instead of standing up when it matters.

Cruel

Harsh and hurtful as a default stance.

Deceiving

Lie, hide truth, or mislead on purpose.

Dependent

Lean on others for everything instead of building your own footing.

Directed by externals

Others, trends, or pressure decide your choices — not your values.

Dishonest

Bend or break truth to protect yourself or get ahead.

Disorderly

Messy habits, chaotic life — things fall apart around you.

Disorganized

Cannot track time, tasks, priorities; always scrambling.

Distant

Emotionally far; people do not feel close to you.

Ego-centric

Everything revolves around you.

Envious

Resent others for what they have that you want.

Fearful

Fear drives most decisions; expect danger or failure.

Flagging

Running out of steam — effort and enthusiasm fading.

Fleeting

Do not stick with things; commitment lasts minutes.
